The Radex Single, and Radex Double are forced air heaters, that rob their heat from the engines water supply. Working much like the heater in your car.

The unit is very easy to install, by simply connecting to a circulating source of hot water and a low voltage power supply, it delivers an endless supply of temperate heat. Ideal for a variety of applications, including boats, RV's trucks, and cars.

The RADEX is manufactured from non corrosive materials, and comes equipped with either single or double independently switched high efficiency fans.
